Every Inch of the Bates Steel Mule is Thoroughbred

The United States Government by means of the ment of Agriculture, has been looking into the tractor, and its bulletins clearly prove that the satisfied owner—man, but that the tractor has paid—has been own the BETTER CLASS of tractors. The successful has learned years ago that he can't get something for No one can. The reason the BATES STEEL MULE is that it is worth more. Skilled factory procedure, production and the most modern machinery enable us money at every turn, yet the BATES STEEL MULE slightly more in the beginning to build but considerably the long run to own. It's just another case where a higher priced article is far cheaper to own when you actually USE it.

The Bates thoroughbred quality comes not from claims, but from what's put into it. Every part is make up the BATES STEEL MULE is put there by experience. There isn't a part that isn't tried and There isn't a part that experience hasn't dictated size; and in it all there isn't one superfluous one part that isn't capable of standing up under strain it gets in actual use. These are things you practice have distracted. The BATES comes to you ment of your desire for a tractor that will endure what we pay for a thing. Value what we get out of it. sider your tractor from what you will get out of it. how many working days you have when the ground consider the operations where you cannot afford to sue, and consider how constantly and economically must be performed even in rush times, you will see the BATES STEEL MULE is the biggest value offered tractor on the American market today.

CANNED GOODS PRICES MAY

COME DOWN.

Chicago.—Prices of canned goods will be no higher and may be somewhat lower in the coming months, according to Walter J.

Sears, of Chicago, O., president of the National Canners' Association.

Standard inspection, voluntary on the part of association members, will be inaugurated in this year's output, it was announced.

Canned goods prices are at a very low level on account of lack of markets and the necessity of canners liquidating their finished products, according to H. A. N.

Dally, president of the National Association of Canned Food and Dried Fruit Brokers.

War material selling of surplus war material demoralized the canned food industry, he said.

"These goods are nearly all absorbed now and business is regaining its lost ground."
